Top Tips

The key to learning number facts by heart is to practise little and often and by making it fun.

Get children to identify which numbers are odd and which are even. What do they notice?

Get children to read the time as often as possible. Get them to identify the time they go to bed; get up for school; have dinner etc.

Children could make their own clock and keep it with them. An analogue watch will also support children's learning of time.
